Just what I wanted

We are some 5-6 weeks into the Covid-19 stay at home order as I write this, but that doesn't mean I can't enjoy the great outdoors, indoors! We had Campfire day via text with our grandchildren and out of state family and I slept in my new Helio Sack 50 atop my new air mattress (reviewed elsewhere) right in the living room. This bag replaces an old er REI bag that mice got into while in storage. I was at first hesitant to buy a mummy bag as they looked like they would be too confining for my liking, but it is surprisingly roomy and very light. I can curl up on my side just fine and I find the left side partial zipper very convenient for sitting up inside the bag and the large toe box is what got me to go ahead and get this bag. We have the temperature reduce to 64°F/18°C at night and the bag still felt comfortable, never too warm and without clamminess. The zippers work with minimal and only minor snagging and stuffs down very compact. Very pleased with this sleeping bag and plan to make frequent use of it; highly recommend.

Yes, I recommend this product. Welcome to REI.com! When you use our site, we collect information about you as described in our privacy policy.

Awesome summer sleeping bag!

I bought this to lighten the load for my summertime backpacking trips. I am a VERY warm sleeper, and a 30 degree bag is just overkill for me, even at 12,000 feet. I am impressed with the quality and it has some really cool features – I LOVE the partial zip on the left side that allows me to have both arms out with the hood still on, as well as the design of the dual purpose stuff sack. The fact that the foot unzips is also very welcome. I have not yet tried rolling the end of the bag up and wearing it around like a giant poofy hoodie, but I plan to, rest assured.

Yes, I recommend this product.
